Black Diamond Video Announces New Corporate Headquarters

Point Richmond, CA –October 20, 2010 -Black Diamond Video is pleased to announce the relocation of its corporate headquarters from Alameda, CA to Point Richmond, CA. The new facility, the former home of Pixar Animation Studios, provides over 30,000 sq. ft. of space for production, integration, engineering, and sales/marketing.

Describing the reason for the move, Ed Priest, BDV's CEO, commented, "We have been searching for a considerably larger space due to tremendous growth in 2009 and 2010. Both our medical integration and commercial AV divisions have gained significant market share in the last 24 months ...our new location will allow us to accommodate our customers' needs and our future growth."

BDV's new facility also includes a new customer visitor center, employee recreation center, training rooms, and 50-seat, state-of-the-art theater. Black Diamond Video's Alameda location will remain active through October 30, 2010.
